AO VET Guest Blog: A New Platform for Sharing Expertise

Veterinary orthopedic surgeons and other professionals in the field now have a new platform for sharing their passion, insights, and expertise with peers around the world: the AO VET Guest Blog.

Offering readers a front-row view into the evolving world of veterinary orthopedics, the AO VET Guest Blog highlights themes relevant to the veterinary orthopedics community and the AO mission. Addressing an array of relevant topics—including scientific and medical developments, innovations, and experiences in orthopedic veterinary care and AO activities—the blog features posts from authors around the world, further supporting the AO's commitment to diversity, inclusion, and access.

Why Write a Guest Blog Post?

The AO VET Guest Blog provides guest authors an opportunity to showcase their work, their expertise and knowledge, and increase their visibility, credibility, and professional connections—all while helping others learn and grow. The blog represents an excellent way to demonstrate their unique perspectives and thought leadership.

In addition to serving as a platform for guest authors to share their knowledge and experience with a diverse audience, contributing to the AO VET Guest Blog opens doors to new connections, a wider professional network, and collaboration with readers ranging from veterinary orthopedic surgeons and academics to researchers and educators.

AO VET invites interested veterinary orthopedic surgeons and other professionals in the field to support knowledge translation by sharing their expertise and insights.

AO VET helps ensure that the blog posts are optimized for maximum impact. Support is provided to the authors, including collaboration with the marketing team and copywriters.
